

The Moon goes through different phases, and seems to change shape.

Can you list the different phases of the Moon and things they look like?

I thought of Full Moon. It looks like the plate I use for dinner.

What did you think of?

Did you know that we always see the same side of the Moon?